Today's Date in the Wheel of the Year

4 October

About October

October is the tenth month of the year in the Gregorian Calendar, with 31 days. From the Latin octo for 'eight' (it was originally the eighth month of the year, before January and February were inserted)

The old Dutch name for October was Wynmaand and the Old English was Winmonath (Wine-month, or the time of vintage; the month for treading the wine-vats); also Teomonath (tenth-month) and Winter-fylleth (Winter full-moon). In some Saxon calendars, the month was allegorised by the figure of a husbandman carrying a sack on his shoulders, sowing corn. Sometimes, October is personified as a vineyard worker riding on Scorpio, as in this image (right) that illustrates Edmund Spenser's rhyme (above). In other old calendars, the sport of hawking is represented. In the Domesday Book the vineyards are mentioned often.

The Frankish name, Windurmanoth, means 'vintage month'. American backwoods calendar: Hunter's Moon. Ásatrú name: Hunting.

In the Goddess calendar, October is sacred to Goddess Hathor (October 3 - October 30). October's flowers are the calendula and cosmos. In the Wiccan faith, according to one source, October is sacred to the Deities Cernunnos, Hekate (Hecate), the Morrigan, Osiris, and "the Wiccan Goddess in Her dark aspect as the Crone", and Calendula is the month's traditional flower.

Today's Date

Jejunium Cereris, Fast of Ceres, Roman Empire

This was a fast introduced in 191 BCE by command of the Sibylline books Livy xxvi. 37), at first held only every four years, then annually on this day.

Fasting was not common in the Graeco-Roman world. This one was held in honour of the goddess Ceres and followed the general feasting as carried out in the Eleusinian festival. The holiday was propitiatory, begun after a series of disasters in Rome; celebrants wore garlands in the Greek fashion.

Ceres, in Roman Mythology, is equivalent to the Greek Demeter, daughter of Saturn and Rhea, wife-sister of Jupiter, mother of Proserpine, and patron of Sicily. Ceres is the goddess of growing plants (particularly grain) and of motherly love.

This and much more can be found in our new group <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/DeitiesCelebrations/> information is posted in the Correllian Herald on Mondays and Thursdays for that date. For daily and monthly information on Gods, Goddesses and Celebrations the World over, please join the group. If you have anything to add to the files they are welcome, too! We look forward to seeing you there!

Runes
By Gothi Freyatron

This week my skills as a rune reader were called upon again. I used to do many readings for people on a daily basis, these days it is mainly for my own private reasons. I spend far more of my time teaching and getting other people to try their skills than I do practicing myself.

It was a refreshing change then to be invited to a chat by the person who I had as my First Degree mentor. Her topic was divination. My purpose in being there was to talk about using runes in Divination, but it ended up with me doing a reading for one of the students.

The runes have many meanings on many different levels, being the invited 'expert' I decided to discard the most basic meanings and went for the more obscure. I also gave the symbolic meanings of the runes to explain why I was saying what I was saying. It is just as well I did because the 'client' got far more out of my explanation of the symbolism than she did from my obscurities. This just goes to show what I have long told my students and apprentices: 'The runes work by symbolism, it is far better to learn the very basic symbolism and work from that, than it is to read five books of meanings and get confused when the authors disagree with each other'.

In future I will have to learn to follow my own advice more closely.

Halloween goes green after cold summer fails to ripen pumpkins

Halloween will be a little greener than usual this year thanks to the soggy UK summer.

Pumpkins, normally bright orange, have failed to ripen thanks to the torrential rain of June and July. One farmer who harvests two million pumpkins a year, says he has never known such a green harvest.

"I have never known a year like this one in 35 years of growing pumpkins," said David Bowman, 59, from Spalding, Lincs. "We have just picked one 25-acre field and they are all green.," he added.

Mr Bowman, who sells many of his crop abroad, said the rain came just after his pumpkins were planted out. "It rained and rained and they hated it. Now it just hasn't been warm enough to ripen them.

"We have green pumpkins stored inside in 25 degrees to try and turn them orange in time. "I will be so glad when it's all over and it's November 1," added farmer Bowman.

It is the lantern variety which are mostly badly affected, the Harvest Moon variety.

Different varieties used for pumpkin pie and soup are less green but even they have not ripened as they should do.

Mr Bowman currently has around 70 staff working round the crop to keep up with the pumpkin harvest in which he has invested £25,000.

The Order of Web Weavers Crystal Web Mapping Project

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalog your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly cataloged we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,

The Order of Web Weavers
