Runes in Ritual

Last week I looked at using runes at the start of a ritual to mark your sacred space. Also how to use them in a simple protection ritual. This week I am moving on to how Runes may be incorporated into the main body of the ritual.

Using runes in a ritual or for magic requires a certain amount of knowledge of runes not found in most books that are about divination. Personally I would stay well clear of any which use a 25 rune Futhark. The use of the blank, so-called 'Wyrð' rune has absolutely no historical evidence in any Saga or Edda. There is a rune, 'Pertho', already within the Elder Futhark, which has the meaning of fate. The authors of those books, in my opinion, show a clear lack of understanding of the runes in this respect. That said, there have always been those who use runes without understanding them. The Poetic Edda has an example of someone who was sick. A Vitki with little aptitude had written a spell in runes which was making them worse, not better. The Vitki in the poem scrapes the runes off and rists new ones, at which point the girl gets better.

The thing about runes is that they have their own power. The very act of risting them is enough to set their magic working. The intent part of the spell is in with the risting; so if you rist a wrong rune all the intent you add later to make it do what you want is a waste of energy. The spell is already cast and working. It is for this reason that I divide my rune lessons into two levels. The use of runes for magic is part of the advanced course, as is the use of runes in rituals. I like to be satisfied with a student's level of competency before I go teaching something that if used ineptly could do a great deal of harm. So here I will relate only a healing visualisation using Uruz

. Gothi: I want you all to imagine a door frame, where the lintel at the top is slanted so that the top left corner is higher than the top right corner. This doorframe is shaped like the Uruz rune.

Imagine this Uruz Doorframe in the center of our circle and all those in need of healing on one side of it. Imagine the doorway glowing with the vital healthy energy of the Uruz rune.

Visualize strongly how much energy the gateway has. Now see all those in need of healing pass through the doorway. As they do this, they leave us to return where they have come from, taking with them some of the healthy energy of the Uruz rune.

Continue to visualize the gate strongly until the last person has gone through it, taking the last of the energy with them and the doorway fades and is gone.

Know that the Healing energy is working and will continue to work in the coming days and weeks.

This is the main body of a ritual I wrote and led for Sedna Healing Shrine. Uruz is the principal rune for healing but also on another level it is a rune that challenges us and presents us with obstacles to overcome on our way to achieving our goals

The Order of Web Weavers Crystal Web Mapping Project

The Order of the Web Weavers has been working diligently on mapping the Crystal Web. If any of you have a crystal that you have added or removed from the Crystal Web contact us to ensure are records up to date and accurate.

The information we need in order to best catalog your crystal/s is the following. Your Craft Name and E-mail Address along with your City, State, Country, Latitude, and Longitude. Sent to the following e-mail address: wwcw@correllianorders.info

Please include the above information, if you have removed your crystal from the Crystal Web along with 'Remove' in the subject line. If you have added several crystals then we would need a separate entry for each crystal, unless they are located together. If they are located together then please include how many crystals are at that location.

We are excited about this project and hope that you will be too. Once the crystals have been properly cataloged we can then begin placing them on the map program. This will give us a good visualization on the Crystal Web. Thank you in advance for your participation in this wonderful project.

Bright Blessings,

The Order of Web Weavers
